Thinking Out Loud

H. M. L.

Prophets are without honor in their own country but if they were, we should attempt to win a little honor by uttering the following forecasts of what we believe may "happen here" in the next four years.

(1) The sit-down strike will have given a quietus to the Committee on Industrial Arganization (C. I. O.) in the next four years, and John L. Lewis' attempt at boss rule of industry (labor dictatorship) will be thoroughly discredited.

(2) That the old Federation of Labor, revamped and renovated will gain in power and numbers. This for the reason that too many working men own their homes and do not wish to see them taken away by radical agitators and cracked-brain legislators.

(3) That as the country resumes its normal stride, and prosperity becomes generally disseminated the radical elements in the administration in Washington will gradually be discarded. A full dinner pail and a steady pay check are the best and surest antidote to communism.

(4) That the New Deal will continue new dealing after the country has recovered its prosperity, with the result that there will be a strong conservative movement on the part of both Republicans and Democrats to oust all those with a New Deal hangover.

(5) That President Roosevelt, already over the peak of his popularity will have little voice in naming his successor, or the nominee of the Democratic party in 1939. The signs of a split between New Dealers and Democrats are now very apparent.

(6) That New Deal legislation needs a considerable period for digestion and adjustment and the American people are going to see to it that the next President and Congress afford a long "breathing spell" for this purpose.

(7) That, if and when, the Republican party, chastenned and rejuvenated, comes into power and Congressionnal investigating committees get to work, such a mass of corruption, waste and skullduggery will be revealed, that it will be many a decade before the people again entrust their government to visionary demagogues and idealists.

We have here in this county, in miniature, the typical reaction of 100 per cent Americans to the intrusion of radical annd communistic elements. They have been heartily repudiated, shouldered to one side, while employers and employes march on toward prosperity in harmony and understanding. Your patriotic American community cannot stomach red doctrine or activity. It spews it up every time.

The fact that sit downers and communists gained such headway in Michigan is due solely to the encouragement they received from the governor of the state, and the tacit permission of Congress and the President. It was the sworn duty of the governor, and the governor failing, of the President, to enforce the law and suppress insurrection in Michigan. Under the administration of Governor Merriam, sit-down strikes were nipped early in the game in this state. Whatever else may be said of our governor, one thing is certain, he stands for law enforcement.

Agricultural labor is organizing in California. We believe it should organize, but one thing is very certain. No industrial group in the country is more in need of intelligent leadership than farm workers. Some years ago in Germany when conditions became unbearable for the farmers, they went on a strike. Regulated prices and exorbitant taxes practically forced them to quit business. Wages and taxes can break the California farmer, even though, to a large extent they pass production costs along to the consumer. This coming summer promises to be one of turmoil and riots in California's agricultural sections unless the leadership of both employes and employers early decide peaceably to compromise issues and adjust complaints one against the other.

There is coming a seedy season for the unorganized, the white collar worker, the small business man, and John Taxpayer who does not belong. Labor organizations of workers are gaining increase in wages throughout the country. Perhaps 5,000,000 workers will have their wages raised. Their employers add the extra cost of wages to the price of goods or produce sold and the consumer pays. It is going to be tough for some 20,000,000 workers and their families, who are unorganized.

HI SPEAKERS IN CONTEST FOR CRUSADER PRIZE

Nevada City high school will play an important part in the second annual speaking contest for high school students of northern California now being conducted by the California Crusaders. The subject is "American Citizeiship—And What It Means To Me." The contest will take place this afternoon in Grass Valley high school.

The representative from the local school will be selected next week in an elimination contest. Among the students who will vie for this honor are Mary Anne Martz, Joan Grant, Mary Lou Draper and Fred Garrison.

The best speaker will compete with the representatives of the other schools in the county early in April for the county title and the right to advance to the semi-final round of competition. A gold medal will be awarded the county champion.

ELECTRIC POWER AT INDIAN FLAT

The Indian Flat district, west of Nevada City, was served with electricity in March of this year by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company. This region settled in the early history of the county now has electricity for the first time. A new substation has been constructed in the district to serve the area. Eleven families took electricity from the new line and more are expected to come in.

Electricity for Nevada City is brought first to the Champion mine west of this city and up Deer Creek to the substation near the Netz quarry. A crew has replaced the line from the Buffington place near the Champion property enlarging it to give greater capacity.

Of special benefit to this section is the installation of three single phase regulators in the local substation. This improvement will give brighter and more even light to Nevada City.

Many poles have been replaced, among them being changes at the Dave Richards home on Boulder street. The P. G. & E. company and Pacific Telephone company are removing pole and lines from the corner of Main and Coyote streets at the Carveth Insurance office. A taller pole is being placed at the Noyes Electrical Shop. Since remodeling the Carveth Insurance office the pole was so far out in the street it was in the way of traffic.

FRANK GUENTHER NOW WITH UNION ICE CO.

Frank Guenther, who has been in the employ of the Plaza Grocery Store for almost 17 years, resigned and today joined the staff of the Union Ice Delivery company of Nevada City owned by Fred Sauvee. Mr. Guenther, native of this city, owned and operated a store in the "burnt district" which was destroyed by the fire that burned almost a block of buildings in the heart of the city about 17 years ago. Lorenzo Cicogni, former partner of A. Angilini, of the Italian Grocery, is now employed in the Plaza Grocery store, taking the position left vacant by the resignation of Mr. Guenther.

W. V. Tamblyn, and son in law, B. C. Shattuck, theatre man of Truckee, left yesterday on a several day trip. They expect to visit in Westwood and Susanville before returning home.

Lou H. Metzger, general superintendent of the Juneau-Alaska Mine in Alaska made a short visit in Nevada City several days ago. He is spending his vacation in California.

Several hundred yards of earth, rock and gravel have been trucked to the Legg property on lower Broad street and a driveway completed through the lot from Broad to Main streets. Mr. Geo. A. Legg has rented the lot on the Main street side to Charles W. Leiter of the Nevada City garage for parking space for machines.

Historic Old Bank at Nor. San Juan is Sluiced for Nuggets

Tearing apart the old bank building at North San Juan two energetic young prospectors are recovering the gold that was overlooked, lost or astrayed in the 1860's and are earning much better than wages in their sluicing operations. When "dust" was plentiful the Argonaut prospectors were prone to carelessness and now bit by bit in a home made sluice box, the debris from the floors and walls of this ancient focal point that attracted the auriferous gleanings of the fathers and grandfathers of the present generation is being made to yield up its hidden treasure. Many a relic of the 49'ers is brought to light in this process, and usually there is a crowd hanging about to see the curious assortment of antiques which the sluicing produces in addition to yellow metal in dust, flakes, nuggets and even buttons. The above engraving was made by E. G. Petsche of North San Juan.

RATTLESNAKE FILETS AND FROG LEGS PLEASE NEV. CITY EPICURES

"Anything that Goldburg Bowen of San Francisco carries, we carry" declared Howard Penrose of the Penrose Grocery yesterday. "For instance we now have a fine stock of canned frogs legs, and an extra special in canned Diamond Back Rattlesnake filets. These rattlesnake filets are guaranteed. They come from a big Side Winder farm in Arizona, where the thickest and juciest filets are grown. We put these in stock especially for the annual dinner and jinks of the fire department. Since both frogs and snakes are cold blooded animals, these delicacies should be eaten with a little agua caliente, to warm them up. Otherwise they are inclined to squirm after they are down. Straight whiskey keeps them quiet and aids the digestive processes. For frogs legs the French use eau de vie, or cognac, but in Arizona, after a rattlesnake fry, which beats brook trout by a mile, the old prospectors there consume a pint of Bourbon per snake. Owing to the high cost of everything else, the consumption of Rattlesnake Filets is increasing to striking proportions, while Frog leg consumption is going forward by leaps. No pun intended."

NO LIQUOR NEAR W.P.A. PROJECT IS ENGINEERS AIM

Russell B. Farley, board of equalization agent of this district, returning yesterday forenoon from Truckee where he had investigated complaints against granting liquor licensing at the Boca dam site. Federal engineers in charge of the construction of the Boca dam, a WPA project, complained to liquor enforcement agencies as to granting licenses to parties near the project as they did not want liquor sold to those working near the dam if it could be prevented.

Mr. Farley made an investigation and the report is being made out to be forwarded to the Board of Equalization headquarters in Sacramento.

Thirty seven men are employed on the project at this time and it is expected there will be between 200 and 300 men on the works before long. It is a three year contract.

Mr. Farley has just returned from a law enforcement convention in Denver, Colorado, which lasted a week.

Mr. Otto Schiffner left by train yesterday for a business trip to Tacoma, Washington and will be away a number of days.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Cole and son of Washington were Nevada City visitors Wednesday. This is their fist trip out since they were snowed in.

FRED CONNER IS AGAIN CHOSEN CHAMBER HEAD

Fred E. Conner was re-elected president of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce Monday evening, with the members lauding his past year's administration as one of the most successful in the history of the chamber. Joe Wilhoit, was unanimously chosen vice president, and W. H. Griffith, secretary. The board of directors will be named at the next meeting of the chamber following a report of a nominating committee appointed for that purpose.

The main points of the secretary's report as presented to the president Fred E. Conner, by the secretary, W. H. Griffith follow. The report was read to the entire group:

Receipts for the year $1,527.00.
Disbursements, $1,535.03.
Indebtedness, none.

Contributions to civic affairs have been to: Fourth of July Celebration, Silver Dinner of Chamber of Commerce, Community Christmas Tree, and to all other civic affairs for which requests have been made.

The Chamber has been very energetic in promoting various important community and county projects, among them are: Promotion and work for the Nevada City-Downieville Highway project; Sponsoring and working for the Washington road project; working for the new city hall, the new grammar and high school; the air port project.

Appreciation was expressed for the $100 which the Board of Supervisors contributed to the Chamber of Commerce funds.

COMPANIONS OF FOREST GREET GRAND COMPANION

Seventeen members of the Companions of the Forest Circle, auxiliary of Woodmen of the World, of this district, chartered a bus from Joseph Spence and went to Sacramento to greet their Grand Companion Jewell Earlin, of Sacramento, Wednesday evening. Court Concordia Circle entertained the grand officers and visiting members most delightfully with a reception and banquet. A class initiation was also held.

Those making the trip were Marie Haddy, Minne Young, Bessie Andrews, Minnie Wales, Esther Martin, Alice Tamblyn, Mary Bivens Annie Ford, Annie Sullivan, Mildred Phelan, Kate Smith, Blanche Burns, Alma Kendall, Lizzie Brunstetter, Nettie Phillips, Mrs. Walls, Mrs. Crothers.

LADIES WILL BE GUESTS AT ELKS DINNER SAT.

Dinner, dancing and a floor show will be the entertainment tendered the ladies tomorrow night by the Elks. Ladies Night is always a festive occasion. George Carter will direlt preparations for the turkey dinner. Elks may make reservations with Exalted Ruler Roland Wright or T. A. Tobiassen, care taker of the building or with Mr. Carter.

OFFICER NINNIS HE'S NOT BIG BUT OH MY--

Lieutenant of Police Charles Ninnis, will weigh in at ringside at about 120 pounds, but he has a stentorian voice that strikes terror in the hearts of evil doers, not to mention lesser fry.

A big "fella", six feet and some inches tall and almost as wide as he was high, was driving an ancient car down Boulder street. He shot past the stop sign at the Plaza, and Officer Ninnis over on the Plaza Grocery corner, ordered him to halt. He read the large driver a brief, pointed lecture, at the end of which the big man, in a quavering voice of distress said:

"I guess, sir, you will have to drive me over to the garage. You scared me so I'm not up to it."

The man was trembling like a mound of jelly just out of the mold, so Ninnis got into the car, and drove it over to Leiter's garage. Following a brief stop for gas, the big "fella' again appealed to Ninnis to drive him out to the city limits and was accomodated. Ninnis declares the man had all the appearance of shell shock, though he had never been in a war.

EIGHT TO ANSWER ON HIGHGRADING CHARGES IN S.F.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 1.—Four Nevada county residents including one woman, and four residents of Los Angeles were indicted Tuesday by the federal grand jury here on charges of conspiracy to violate the Gold Reserve Act of 1934.

Those who were indicted are:

William E. Moulton, French Corral gold broker; Mrs. Ida Davenport of North San Juan, his secretary; Ben A. Bost of Nevada City, a mining engineer and mine owner; Justice of the Peace Walter L. Mobley of Nevada City; Harry E. Beatty, William R. Irwin, Louis N. Boyar and M. H. Small all of Los Angeles.

The Nevada county residents indicted already are under bonds in connection with previous charges which brought about their arrest last September. On the new charge they are expected to be haled in federal court here within a few days. The bonds on the latest charge have been set at $1,000 each.

Irwin and Boyar are held in custody in San Francisco and Small in Los Angeles. Beatty is at liberty under bonds since his arrest last week.

Captain Thomas Foster of the United States Secret Service said the indictments returned Tuesday involve the charges of gold thefts a sum which is only a small part of the gold stolen in the Nevada-Sierra counties area and in Amador county. The total averages approximately $500,000 a year.

Foster asserted Moulton, previously indicted on a similar charge, conducted the most extensive gold brokerage business in the Grass Valley section.

Mrs. Davenport is accused of aiding Moulton in the preparation of spurious affidavits as to the origin of the gold sold to the United States Mint. Bost is charged with falsely representing himself as the operator of the Lucky Gravel claim in El Dorado county in an attempt to sell the gold.

Justice of the Peace Mobley is accused of permitting Bost to swear to the spurious affidavits. Judge Mobley declares that this charge is entirely unfounded, and that his only connection in the matter is that, due to the physical incapacity of Bost to sign his own affadivits, Judge Mobley, a notary, signed for him.

Goodbye Party for Orlando McCraney

Mrs. Elsworth Bennetts of High street entertained Wednesday evening in honor of Mr. O. McCraney, prominent mining man of this city, who is departing April seventh for the Phillippine Islands to enter that mining field.

The group consisted of Mr. and Mrs. O. McCraney, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bettles, Mr. and Mrs. Otto E. Schiffner and host and hostess.

This group of men, all close friends, were mine operators in Nevada state before coming to Nevada City, and have continued in active mine operations in this section. Mr. Bennetts is a native of this city but spent several years in Nevada.

Henry Kohler and Norman Tracy of Washington were Nevada City visitors early in the week.

O. McCRANEY TO TAKE POST IN PHILIPPINES

O. McCraney, president of the California Sierra Gold Mines, who has resided in Nevada City eight years will leave San Francisco on the China Clipper April 7, for the Phillippine Islands with the Pan-Phillippine Syndicate. The company is operating poperties in Luzon and Mindonao and are undertaking the exploration of other undeveloped areas. Headquarters are at Manila, but Mr. McCraney will be actively engaged away from there most of the time. Some practical prospectors are being sent by steamer to the Phillippine property by the company.

The Clipper trip occupies five days with 72 hours of actual flying time, overnight stops being made at Honolulu, Guam, Midway and Wake Islands reaching Manila on the afternoon of the fifth day.

Mr. McCraney has a splendid record in mining circles as a capable manager and superintendent. He was responsible for the management of the Tonopah Belmont, White Caps and Jim Butler, in Nevada state, and the Eagle Shawmut, Argonaut, Plymouth and others in California. In Nevada City the old Murchie was rejuvenated and brought into profitable production under his management, affording employment for several hundred men and adding much newly produced wealth to the output of the district. More recently his company has been active in the development of the Canada Hill and Ragon Mines.

Mrs. McCraney and children will remain in this city until the year of his contract is completed.

Bon voyage and best wishes of the entire district go with Mr. McCraney. He has made this city his home for about eight years.

SHEAVE WHEEL INJURIES FATAL

James Johns, 56, died Tuesday afternoon at the Jones Memorial Hospital from injuries suffered when he was caught in the sheave wheel of the North Star mine hoist.

An investigation of the accident is being made. It was reported Johns who worked at the North Star for the last twelve years, was oiling the bearings when he fell into the turning wheel.

He was rescued by fellow workers and taken to the hospital.

Johns, a native of Cornwall, leaves his wife, Isabel; a brother, Samuel Johns of Grass Valley; a half-brother, John Johns, and a half-sister, Zella Opie.

He was a member of the Madison Lodge, No. 23, F. and A. M.; Odd Fellews Lodge and Mine Workers Protective League.

The funeral servics will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Episcopal church in Grass Valley. The Masonic ritual will be read and interment will follow in the Masonic cemetery under the direction of the W. R. Jefford and Son Funeral Chapel.

MRS. ANNIE SCHEEMER ANSWERS SUMMONS

Mrs. Annie Scheemer, widow of the late C. F. Scheemer, passed away just before 10 o'clock at the Nevada City Sanitarum last evening. She had been ill at the sanitarium about two weeks but the news of her passing comes as a great shock to the entire community.

She was born near Tyler and has resided in Nevada county her entire life. Mrs. Scheemer was a devout member of the Catholic church and was known throughout the city and county for her kindly Christian life.

Left to mourn her passing is a son, Chester Scheemer, partner in the Plaza Grocery Store of Nevada City.

At time of going to press no details of funeral arrangements had been made.

A Heaven for Whom

Here's a suggestion to end all suggestions to the Legislature.

Let the lawmakers, after working out the budget, chuck about 3,687 proposed laws into the wastebasket, pack their grips, and head for home.

True, that would sacrifice a few good measures pending. But the escape from a multitude of unneeded and obnoxious laws might be worth it.

Already we have more laws than we know what to do with. Reliance on government is taking the place of self-reliance. Too many people are counting on the legislature to pass a law fixing things up their way.

There are proposals regulating all man's activities from birth to the grave and beyond. There are even those half dozen price-fixing bills seeking to repeal the laws of supply and demand.

Assume that man-made laws might do everything, even to the point of overruling the laws of economics and the laws of nature. Then you could arrange things so life on this planet would be a veritable heaven on earth.

But a heaven for whom?

That is the trouble. Nobody has ever agreed upon what heaven should be like. For the cattleman it's a place where you can sell steak for a dollar a pound. For the housewife, it's a place where you can buy steak for five cents a pound. Laws might bring about one or the other of those, here on earth; but not both.

Consider the average citizen who has no legislative bones to pick. He is happiest under just enough man-made laws to keep everyone playing the game fairly under the laws of nature as they are. He is trying to carve out the nearest thing possible to his own idea of Utopia for himself and his family, counting only on his own resourcefulness and self-reliance.

He is the forgotten man in the present day efforts to legislate a Utopia.—Contributed.

The Supreme Court

Whatever one's opinion on the burning issue of whether the Supreme Court is supreme or not there's one phase of the conflict that stirs one's bile—

The hypocracy of it all—the cowardice of some Congressmen, and the artful-dodgery of others.

Senators with their tongues in their cheeks who give lip support to a measure which they at heart oppose is a pathetic patriotism.

One such Congressman sneaked back home the other day. He acted a lot like a hound dog that 's been sucking eggs—you couldn't see him for his guilt.

Whichever side a fellow's on he ought to be there. It's a bad bargain to sell one's birthright for a mess of patronage.

WINROD ANSWERS SEN. ROBINSON

By EDWARD A. CLUTTER

WICHITA, Kans., April 1.—"Hands off the Supreme Court"—these words resounded across the floor and through the galleries of the United States Senate a few days ago, as Senator Joseph T. Robinson hurled a verbal broadside against the Rev. Gerald B. Winrod of Wichita.

It is reliably reported that the senator was acting upon direct orders from the White House.

The furore resulted from the fact that Rev. Winrod had been responsible for placing 500,000 signed petitions on the desks of senators and representatives within one week. Each petition was in the form of a protest against the President's plan of packing the Supreme Court. Each bore the heading "Hands Off the Supreme Court," printed in big black letters.

Greatly to the discomfort of Senator Robinson, and others, the number of "Winrod petitions," have now increased to over a million. They are continuing to pour in upon Washington at the rate of several thousand a day.

"Every petition comes from a sincere heart," insists Winrod, in professing amazement that any member of congress should resent hearing from the folks "back home," regarding an issue of such tremendous importance.

In a special interview, Rev. Winrod, an ordained clergyman who has preached more than five thousand sermons, says, "As a part of the freedom provided for the American people under their Constitution, they enjoy the right of sending petitions to their duly elected representatives on matters of national importance.

"It is not to be supposed that any conscientious member of either branch of the congress will resent receiving such expressions from the voters."

Winrod brands as "unfounded," Senator Robinson's charge that his efforts are in any way associated with the Ku Klux Klan. "I am just an ordinary minister of the Gospel who has positive convictions and many friends," he says.

"The charge that the present spontaneous expression of opposition to the demoralization of the Supreme Court results from Klan activity is absolutely false. I am not a member of the Klan or any other secret society and never have been.

"If necessary, I will increase the number of petitions to three million and every one will be signed, stamped and mailed by a professing Christian.

"I can move tens of thousands of Christians to action on righteous and patriotic causes, in a matter of a few hours, when an occasion arises. The religious people of America are stirred today as they have not been for a generation."

During the course of the senate attack, Robinson read publicly, a letter written by Rev. Winrod to the leaders of his nation wide constituency. The senator frequently interrupted himself between sentences, in order to inject caustic comments against the preacher.

The only complaint offered by Winrod over the entire fracas, was the fact that Robinson skipped the one outstanding paragraph of the entire letter.

In view of the personal and some times sneering references made while the reading was going on, Winrod says he feels that in fairness, the senator should have put the "entire" missive into the Congressional Record.

The portion which Winrod wrote to his followers and which Robinson failed to read during the debate, is as follows:

"This matter is very important to you and I, as Christians. In countries where dictatorships are set up, religious liberties are eventually destroyed. The right to worship God, according to the dictates of conscience is abolished. Religion is regimented, like labor and industry."

SIERRA VISTA SHARES

A permit to issue 1,000 shares of no par common stock was granted the Sierra Vista Mines, Inc., located south of Grass Valley in Nevada county by State Corporation Commissioner E. M. Daughtrey. The officers are Fred Glick, president; Leonard E. Roberts, vice president and Pauline S. Glick, secretary-treasurer.

Judge: "What were you doing with your hand in the gentleman's watch pocket?"

Prisoner: "I was just trying to find out the time."

Judge: "The time is six months."

Uncle: "And what's your ambition, Bobby?"

Bobby: "I ain't got any. I just wanna be a vice president."

CHANGE ROOM BURNS DOWN AT SPANISH MINE

The change room at the Spanish mine burned down last night while the night shift was at work. The miners lost their clothes in the building and the building itself burned to the ground. The loss is estimated at $1,000.

ORIENTAL MINE

F. F. Cassidy, manager of the Alpha Stores of Nevada City, stated Wednesday that ore continues to look promising at the Oriental mine at Alleghany. Work is progressing nicely with eleven men employed. Ray Hawkins, merchant of Alleghany, is also interested in the mine.

FOSSIL HORSES 8,000,000 YEARS OLD ARE FOUND

BERKELEY, April 1. — Examination of fosil specimens taken by the University of California from the historic Pine Ridge Sioux Indian Reservation of South Dakota is proving the discoveries to be of considerable importance, it is announced by Dr. V. L. VanderHoof of the University's Museum of Paleontology.

The specimens are estimated to be some 8,000,000 years in age and represent a number of animals of geologic times. Among them are represented the forerunners of horses that began to have elongate teeth for the cropping of grass rather than foliage of shrubs or trees. It was about the time covered in the South Dakota find that grasses began to appear on the Great Plains. This resulted in longer limbed, faster types of plains horses with the elongate or high crowned teeth to better resist the chewing wear of abrasive grasses.

Also included in this fauna are a new giraffe-life form, many birds rare in fossil records, weasel-like forms, beavers, an early dog, a shrew and some cud-chewing animals now wholly extinct.

Vertebrate faunas are known from this region in both earlier and later stages of evolution, but this fauna has special interest to paleontologists in that it appears to be a bridge or connecting fauna that may fill some gaps in the family trees of some of the animals mentioned.

WORLD HISTORY IS MODIFIED BY LEADERS HEALTH

BERKELEY, April 1. — The health of powerful public figures is reflected in their deeds and is undoubtedly affecting the course of history today just as it has many times in the past, according to Dr. Alfred C. Reed, professor of tropical medicine at the University of California.

Writing in the March issue of Scientific Monthly, Dr. Reed illustrated his belief that the conduct of man in public life is influenced and may even be controlled by their health. Such things as hardened arteries, infections, and psychological abnormalities, he says, are reflected in events.

All historical characters lend themselves to an illustration of this theory, according to Dr. Reed. Picking them at random, he selects among others Ivan the Terrible of Russia, and Henry VIII of England.

Other historical figures mentioned by Dr. Reed, whose careers have been altered by their health and whose acts have had a great effect on history are Julius Caesar, Napoleon Bonaparte, Joan of Arc, Empress Theodora, Frederick Nietsche, Nicoli Lenin, and Kaiser Wilhelm.

SACRAMENTO, April 1.—California's legislature, already having passed 248 bills this session, moved closer to some of the highly controversial and more important legislation this week.

The assembly is expected to vote on the Garrison revenue bond measure which would allow the political subdivisions of California, by a majority vote, to issue revenue bonds in the financing of public utility projects. It already has passed the senate unanimously.

The senate adopted a resolution proposing amendments to the state constitution to abolish the bifurcated session, by which legislators return home for 30 days after the opening "short session." The senate favored a single meeting each two years.

The assembly approved amendment of the liquor control act to require 2 a. m. closing, banning sale of liquor between 2 a. m. and 6 a. m.

Governor Merriam still is standing firmly on his $446,000,000 state budget, discouraging requested increases of several million dollars.

The senate passed the Knowland bill making it a crime for anyone to interfere with the movement of necessary food, drugs and medical supplies. The measure was designed to prevent general strikes from depriving communities of the necessities of life.

Fifty of the best collegiate boxers in the United States will meet Thursday night in the opening of the National Intercollegiate Boxing Tournament in Memorial auditorium, Sacramento. Elimination bouts will be continued on Friday night and finals are scheduled for Saturday. Sixteen colleges will be represented, with several national champions of 1936 back to defend their titles.

Around the Dome—The state fish and game commission headquarters will be transferred to Sacramento from San Francisco to better serve the state's sportsmen, Herbert C. Davis, executive officer, announced this week. Senate has memorialized congress to abolish the electoral system in presidential elections. Assembly subcommittee this week started drafting one measure out of three bills to create a state bureau of venereal diseases.

A low bid of $715,000 was submitted by Eaton & Smith Construction Company of San Francisco for the main supply building of the Sacramento Army Air Repair Depot. This building will be the second largest unit at the depot. The army plant is expected to be ready for use November 1, 1938.

A special hearing by the universities committee of the assembly has been scheduled on the bill establishing a California College of Vocational Arts in Sacramento. The proposed college, which would give the residents of Sacramento valley an educational offering not duplicated in any college in the United States, has won the support of Governor Merriam and Dr. Walter Dexter, director of education, in addition to many leading educators of the nation.

Under terms of the bill, the college would provide practical courses in business and industry which would fit students to fill jobs in these fields without other specific training, immediately on graduation. Courses provided include aeronautics, banking, mining, public service and administration, insurance and other semi-technical subjects not now taught in any California college. Supporters of the bill are conducting a strong campaign in urging their representatives to approve the measure.

No reduction in employment on WPA projects in California is contemplated for several months at least, providing congress continues appropriations for that purpose, William R. Lawson, state WPA director, told the assembly committee of social service and welfare. The present quota for the state handles approximately 100,000 cases.

The state department of social welfare reported that the number of recipients of old age assistance has increased 46,724 in the last 19 months. More than 68,000 individuals received an average of $31,56 each, during the month of February.

Sacramento's 14th annual Spring Flower Show, to be held at the state fair grounds April 17th and 18th, will be the larget eve held, Mrs. E. J. Woodburn, general chairman, said this week. Entries are coming in from all over the state, she said, with Sacramento valley particularly well represented.

QUEEN LIL MILL

Sixty tons of ore per day is being treated at the Queen Lil custom mill at Nevada City's western limits. The ore is from the Quee Lil mine on which the mill is located. A nice recovery of concentrates is being made and the mill is in splendid condition. The men are working two shifts. Hal D. Draper, local assayer, who is operating the custom mill is well pleased. Among local people interested in the Queen Lil mine are Mrs. Gladys Rockefeller of Gold Flat, and Bill Buffington who resides near the property.

WHO PIONEERED THE GREAT BRIDGES?

While skeptics wagged their heads, far-seeing men launched one of the great engineering feats of the past decade and blazed a trail for the mammoth bridges of today.

They built a highway bridge across the Carquinez Straits and opened it in 1927.

It was a courageous project. Courageous men met the unknown hazards of a pioneer enterprise and courageous neighbors, sensing its value to the people of the State, backed it with their savings.

California was proud of the Carquinez Bridge . . . then! It broke a bottle neck which had existed since the days of the Padres and opened up a major channel of transportation for California. It has saved inestimable time and money to millions of automobile and truck owners.

California made a contract with the bridge builders . . . a 25 year franchise to justify their investment . . . ending in 1948. At that time it will become the State's property FREE OF ANY COST.

Today . . . politicians threaten to violate the sanctity of that contract and confiscate our investment in the bridge, which can be realized only by receiving the revenue from its operation until it automatically becomes the property of the State.

LET CALIFORNIA KEEP FAITH!

PUBLISHED BY A COMMITTEE REPRESENTING THE 8,950 OWNERS OF THE CARQUINEZ BRIDGE

TIGHT TRESPASS LAW DEMANDED BY FARMERS

By RALPH H. TAYLOR

Trespass, always a threat to the farmer's peace of mind, as well as his pocketbook, has suddenly become one of the gravest problems confronting California agriculture, due to the advent of the "sit-down strike."

Spread of the "sit-down strikes" to farming areas, during the harvest season, would inevitably bring the wholesale destruction of crops, with terrific losses, it is generally recognized.

As a consequence, farm legislation dealing with trespass takes on new importance at the present session of the state legislature.

Aimed directly at the problem are companion bills by Senator Harry L. Parkman of San Mateo and Assemblyman Harrison W. Call of South San Francisco.

These bills, designed to protect the famer from "sit-down strikes" which would prohibit the harvesting of crops, would amend the definition of "criminal trespass" to include any person who "enters upon the real property in the possession of another, or remains thereon," without permission of the owner, or his agent.

From the standpoint of agriculture, enactment of the Parkman-Call bills is of vital importance, for farmers certainly cannot afford the costly experience of having their farms over-run by radical agitators and strikers while their crops rot in the fields and their year's income disappears into thin air.

Old-style trespass — the problem of hunters, fishermen and campers, whose careless depredations cost farmers thousands of dollars every year—will also be at issue before the lawmakers in a bill by Assemblyman Frank L. Baynham of Pomona, seeking to give he farmer further protection.

The Baynham bill would make trespass laws apply more generally to fishermen and campers, as well as hunters.

Much of the resistance to adequate trespass legislation from sportsmen's groups and others, it is safe to predict, would quickly disappear if the situation were once reversed. Imagine the cry which would go up from city residents if they suddely found formers camped in their backyards, using their fences for firewood, stamping over their flower beds, perforating their garages with bullet holes and leaving campfires flaming as they departed!

A man's home is his castle, in any city or community, but during the summer months a farmer's home is often a public domain — his cattle stampeded, his irrigation ditches torn up, his orchards raided, his grain trampled, his fields frequently burned by carelessly tossed cigarettes, or abandoned campfires.

And every rural community, directly dependent on its surounding farming area, sustains part of the loss, as well as the farmer. Every city shipping and trading area, dependent on its hinterland, foots part of the bill for inexcusable carelessness, but seldom realizes it!

Perhaps the most urgent need today in coping with both social and economic problems is anew appreiation of the simple truth that the only way to protect and guarantee one's rights and liberties is to recognize and respect the rights and liberties of others.

The Golden Rule, fundamentally, is the foundation of any democratic governmet, or any orderly society. Illegal seizure of property by "sit-downers" and careless trespass on farm property would both end automatically, if every citizen valued the rights of his fellow citizens, as he values his own.

"Sit-down strikers," for example, if they think clearly, will recognize that they are advocating a return to the vicious doctrine that "might makes right." And labor would most assuredly come off second best if that principle were re-established. That is the very doctrine which labor has fought most bitterly through the years. And even Senator Hiram W. Johnson, staunch friend of labor, has sounded the warning that the "sit-down strike" is the road to anarchy of dictatorship!

The old rule "Do unto others—" still applies. And disregard of that rule means disregard by others—an end to the rights and privileges which are the rewards of an orderly society.

CCC CELEBRATES 4TH BIRTHDAY

President Roosevelts first unemployment relief measure, the Civilian Conservation Corps, will celebrate its fourth anniversary this year and Robert Fechner, Director of Emergency Conservation Work asks that the period March 31 to April 5 be observed with appropriate ceremonies. Army authorities in charge of the CCC camps will join the U. S. Forest Service, National Park Service and other work agencies for the purpose of informing the public about the corps and its activities in the conservation of human and natural resources.

U. S. Regional Forester S. B. Show, under whose direction work is carried on in the national forests of California, believes that the Civilian Conservation Corps has made a name and a place for itself in American life. "Four years ago," said Mr. Show, "the public was rather inclined to ridicule what they called President Roosevelt's 'tree planting army.' Today 82 per cent of all the people in the country and 87 per cent of those on the Pacific Coast are in favor of the CCC, according to the report of the American Institute of Public Opinion. Two bills are now in Congress to make the CCC a permanent institution."

APPROACHES TO SPAN OVER GATE SOON COMPLETED

SAN FRANCISCO, April 1.—With continued favorable weather, work on the approaches of the Golden Gate bridge is proceeding at a rapid rate.

Assurances that the roads leading to the bridge will be ready for motorists at the opening of the bridge and the attendant Golden Gate bridge fiesta, May 27 to June 2, came today from state and city engineers in charge of this construction.

"We will have Richardson avenue ready in time for the celebration commemorating the completion of the bridge," said City Engineer John Casey.

Richardson avenue is the name by which the road now called the Lyon street approach will be known. It is a six lane highway which, starting at Lombard and Broderick streets, enters the presidio at Lyon and Bay streets.

"With the wrecking of buildings on the right of way completed, and the surveying done, contractors on the street work will be on the job this week," Casey continued. "And the job will be finished in time for the dedication ceremonies."

Colonel John H. Skeggs, district engineer of the California State Highway Commission said that he expected the Waldo approach highway to be finished three weeks before the opening of the bridge.

The Waldo approach is the main approach from the north, cutting through the Marin county hills to the bridgehead on the Marin side of the Golden Gate. It is in effect a realignment of the present Redwood Highway U. S. 101.

"We expect to finish our job on contract time, May 6," said Colonel Skeggs today. "We are keeping up to schedule and anticipate no delay."

The Sausalito lateral approach, on the Marin side, being constructed as a works progress administration project with the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District as the sponsor, is nearing completion, with nearly 400 men on the job.

"The Sausalito lateral will be finished by April 15," said James Reed, general manager of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District.

"The Marina approach," Reed continued, "will be completed between March 31 and April 10."

The Marina approach is a continuation of Marina boulevard. After crossing the corner of the Palace of Fine Arts grounds, it moves through the presidio to the bridgehead.

Like the bridge, it is a six lane highway.

Chief Engineer Joseph B. Strauss said all the work, with the exception of the paving of the remaining 20-foot strip on the main span, is going forward on schedule.

Paving the strip, the engineer pointed out, is a comparatively short job and will be completed well before it is actually required.

The toll plaza buildings on the presidio side of the bridge will be ready May 1, according to Reed.

PAST PRESIDENTS ELECT DELEGATES

An Easter motif was used in decorating the banquet table of the Past President's association No. 6 when they celebrated their seventh anniversary at Odd Fellows Hall on Monday night.

The association held a meeting at which delegates were elected to the Grand Assembly to be held in Sacramento on April 12. Delegates were elected: Vere Hansen, Marguerite Clarg, Margaret Fortier, Louise Wales and Agnes Worthly. Alternates: Hilda Sandow, Grace Eva, Caroline Hotchkiss, Annie Darke and Adeline O'Connor.

After the regular meeting a social time was enjoyed. Prizes at dutch which were won by Virginia O'Neil, Annie Hooper and Josie Muscardini. The mystery boy was won by Beatrice George.

PAVILLA AND DAUGHTER TO PRESENT FARCE

Those who attend the Peardale session of the Farm Bureau on Friday night will see J. R. Pavilla and his daughter in a farce. Mr. Pavilla in early San Francisco theatres played many important roles. Supported by his daughter, Mrs. Christian Anderson he will present a sketch on the stage at the Farm Center. It is a screaming comedy sketch called the "Daughter of Baccus" in which so many comedy situations occur that there are no dull moments.

Both Mr. Pavilla and his daughter have been featured attractions in many parts of the United States. This augurs well for this personal appearance of the two artists on Friday night. The public is invited from the twin cities and there is no admission fee. The show will begin at 9 o'clock and after the show there will be a radio dance till 12 and refreshments will be served by the ladies of the bureau.

UREN TAKES NEVADA MINE

Edward C. Uren, of Nevada City and Harry A. Dart of Sacramento have taken over the Pansy Lee gold and silver mine near Winnemucca, Nevada. Considerable equipment has been taken to the property but Mr. Uren states more machinery, powder and other materials are to be taken in as soon as possible. Ore will be shipped to Salt Lake City for reduction. Harry Dart will be in charge of operations.

"California Has Too Much Government"

By ALFRED W. ROBERTSON
Chairman Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

I deem two facts to be self-evident; first, that the peoule of the State of California are possessed of too much governmet, and second, that the people of the State of California are possessed of too much law.

As an example of too much government, may I tell the story of what would happen if you wanted to subdivide a six acre plot which you had say in Santa Barbara county into twelve lots. You would have to get a civil engineer to draw a map of the plot. This map and the proposed subdivision would have to be approved by the city planning commission. It would then go to the city council. They would have to approve it. Then it would have to go to the county planning commission for approval, and from there to the county board of supervisors. If approved all around, it would then have to go to the state real estate board; they would send inspectors, at your expense, to investigate your proposed subdivision and approve it. After you had gone through all these steps you would have the proper number of approvals before you could subdivide your six acres into twelve lots.

That is the law the way it is administered in California today, not only in this case, but in many cases. In other words, we let six separate and distinct organizations determine the same fact, any one of which is entirely competent to do it, and you taxpayers are paying for each and every one of these inspections. Instead of delegating this authority to one, you delegate it to six different committees and boards of public government, all taking your time and your money. I could go on and on with these things for a long, long time.

TOO MUCH LAW

Let us refer a moment to the question of too much law. Have you ever looked over the Motor Vehicle Code, for instance? What is it? Two hundred eighteen pages just telling you how you can run a car. Have you ever read the eight pages that it takes to tell you just what kind of lights you can have on your car? Well, you ought to do it. It is good for you. I think you could put in about six weeks on that and maybe have a few of the fundamentals after you got through. Now couldn't it be covered by two pages of simple laws that anybody could understand?

THE RELIEF PROBLEM

And there's another problem in California. Let me tell you the story of Julius Jones, of Lakeview, Iowa. Julius came back from the war covered with glory. He took unto himself a wife and during the course of the years eleven children blessed their union. The citizens of Lakeview, three hundred strong, had kept Julius and his brood from starving down the years. And now there is cause for great rejoicing in Lakeview. The citizens have given Julius a T Model Ford and Julius and his family are starting on the road. All three hundred of Lakeview's citizens have gathered at the city hall to wish them Godspeed. when someone notices that the tires on Julius' car are not so good—wouldn't be able to carry him very far. A collections is speedily taken up, four new tires and a little cash in hand are given the travelers. Amid the plaudits of the populace the Jones family is started on its way—to California.

That is the real problem that is confronting our state today and to me it is by far the greatest problem. An average of say 800 people, mostly indigents, have in the last few weeks been coming into this state daily. Most of them must go upon the relief rolls.

You know that California has an old age pension which is the greatest of any pension in the United States, greater than any in the world, 70 per cent higher than the state average in the United States, 14 per cent higher than the next highest average. You know that California has a relief budget greater by far than any other state in the Union, nearly 80 per cent above the average for the states of the Union, and, I think, about 20 per cent above the next nearest state. No wonder Mr. Jones, having given the matter careful consideration, decided for the paradise of California.

Did you know that your relief situation has now come to a point where nearly a third of every dollar received in this state through taxation or otherwise goes to relief? Did you know that sixty cents out of every dollar raised by the county of Los Angeles goes for the purpose of relief? Did you know that the cost of relief added to the cost of the institutions is now close upon the cost of our public schools and education, which we believed was so far ahead of anything that it never could be caught? Well, that is a fact. They are running neck and neck and I am wondering what we are doing in this situation. Something must be done.

We have gone into the thing quite carefully. There are four bills before the legislature. Our idea is that they should be combined in one. But before I go on and state that. I do want to tell you something about the overhead of administering this relief in the past few years.

We have had evidence—now I am not saying this is true—but we have had evidence before the hearings of our little committee that in one month the cost of overhead on the $48,000.000 of the SERA had gone to 42 per cent, that 24, 26, and 27 per cent was the regular thing and that they were very, very proud that in one month it had been reduced to 18 per cent. In other words, by a proper administration we could cut $6,000,000 off the $48,000,000 and the ultimate consumer would receive just as much as he is receiving now, in my humble opinion.

Now to do this, I feel and have felt for a long time that instead of leaving this with the Welfare Board or with the board covering the relief, it should be put in a new layout, that administering this should be a good man paid the highest salary that it is possible to pay so that we will get a really good man. We must take care of this problem for unless we do, we are going to go into a position in the State of California where we will practically not be able to poy our bills.

There are two remedies that I would suggest for this influx. One is this: increase the limit of time that you have to be here before you can receive relief or before you can receive a pension, one year every year for the next eight or ten years. Just increase it one year every year for the next eight or ten years and that puts a dead line right here and now beyond which we cannot pass. Because California is glad to take care of her own citizens who have contributed something to the state, there is no reason why we should take care of the people of Oklahoma and Texas, and Arkansas, and North Carolina, and what states have you, states that do nothing for their people.

The other remedy that I suggest is that while we cannot prevent the ingress and egress of citizens between states, the law under the police power does give us big leeway on health control. Possibly if we put a few doctors at the points of ingress and placed at such points a few detention camps and examined all the people that came in, first for tuberculosis, second, for venereal diseases we would keep out a tremendous percentage of them.

Then if we let it be known over the good United States of America that we are doing this and it is not quite so easy to get in as it used to be, possibly it would have a very salutary effect.

John Tognaelli is confined to his home with an attask of illness. His many friends hope for an early recovery.

IRVIN COBB DOES NOT LIKE FREE SPEECH FOR REDS

"If the Russian plan of government be the most admirable, why not borrow, for use against its advocates here, one of its features?" asks Irvin S Cobb, in his syndicated feature, "Just a Minute," which appears in newspapers all over the country.

"No American would be permitted publicly to preach in Russia the overthrow of the Soviet system and the substitute therefor of the American system. Well, then? When this is suggested, some pink sympathizer of the more courageous reds invokes the right of free speech.

The constitution may date back to horse-and-buggy days, but surely its framers never meant to extend the privilege of free speech to admitted enemies of that constitution and all it ever stood for. Leaving out the horse they just naturally couldn't have been that buggy."

I Wonder

I wonder now if Jupiter
Hangs out his brightest moon,
While golden stars in unison
Their tuneful vespers croon;
I wonder if they duck and run
As through their midst we're swirled,
And then cry out in dire dismay,
"Good Heavens—What a world!"

I wonder if the present session of the legislature will make the state entirely safe, sane and sanitary; oh well, the worthy solons are putting on a lively show; sponsors must not be too exacting.

I wonder if dwellers in the Emerald Island fully appreciate the work of good Saint Patrick; imagine living in a land where there are no snakes in the shamrocks.

I wonder if women could learn to capture the animals whose pelts they covet; if they could learn to shoot to kill, set the cruel traps and deliver the nauseating blow which ends the agony of some lovely wildwood creature. It's hardly fair to leave all these messy details to the men folk. Not fit work for gentle, womanly hands? Granted; but some one has to do it.

I wonder why we grieve for the boy who froze to the burning deck and refused to budge therefrom; with such a microscopic bump of initiative, he couldn't have been a desirable citizen anyway. He'd have been an unmitigated nuisance when our fire siren yodeled.

I wonder if it is true that lady contributors ruined the old San Francisco Argonaut and created the first breach between the bay city and fair Los Angeles.

I wonder if the man from Posterior California, who advocates the indiscriminate slaughter of birds, is in favor of starting a war to make the world safe for insects.

I wonder at those who occupy the seats of the mighty—dictators, bishops, Lords and Mayors, what a cacaphony of name calling they are indulging in. Isn't this hysterical intolerance the sort of stuff out of which wars are often made? Think I'll write a book entitled: "Why We Humans Sound Like Katydids"; it might prove to be a best seller.

I wonder what in the world is the matter with this sentence: "Caesar entered upon his head, a crown by his side, a sword in his eye: Fire! —A. MERRIAM CONNER.

Thru the Knot Hole

A Glimpse of Building Activity

Vol. 1. APRIL 2, 1937. No. 56.

The residence of Mrs. Ruby Miller on Lost Hill is being improved by the addition of a picket fence. The posts and pickets are Redwood, this being the first home in Nevada City to be surrounded with redwood pickets made according to the new "Picket Pack" method. Pickets are packed thirty in a bundle, enough to make 10 lineal feet of fence. Of course the 2x4 plates are of redwood also as full REDWOOD CONSTRUCTION ASSURES PERMANENCY WITHOUT TROUBLE.

Several large construction jobs are scheduled for the near future in the twin cities and surrounding territory. Construction will be started on a large garage for the Pacific Gas and Electric Company at Grass Valley. Howard Ross is the successful bidder on this job.

We have had many favorable comments and many sales on our stock of Redwood garden furniture. This was purchased from a manufacturer who has discontinued making this furniture and naturally we made the purchase at a great saving which we are passing along to our customer in very low prices for the items in stock. Come up and look over these chairs, setees benches, tables, etc. Ideal for gifts to the children.

Contractor Ralph H. Cochrane reports the starting of a remodel and overhaul job for Mrs. Mooser of South Church street in Grass Valley. Items included being Palco Bark insulation over entire attic area, new bath room upstairs with Celotex used for walls and ceilings, an entirely modern kitchen and a complete paint job which has been subcontracted to Mr. H. W. Pricer.

Rocklath for a plaster base is finding favor with many contractors over wood lath. The builder knows that with Rocklath he gives the customer a job with a minimum of plaster cracks and an absence forever from the dark lath mark streaks. It pays to look into plaster base before building.

Lady: "I sent my little boy for two pounds of prunes and you only sent a pound and a half."

Storekeeper: "My scales are all right, madam. Have you weighed your little boy?"
